SPARGU REUNION.

A Right Royal Recreation at Rainsboro.

Splendid Speeches, Delightful Dinner, Merry Music and a Grand Good Time.

A Full Account of the Day's Doings in the Graphic and Entertain-ing Myle of Our Regular Correspondent.

Another Annual Spargur Reunion is ended, but many of its interesting social lutures will linger in the memory of the thousands who attended it and help in some measure at least to make the future of life with them brighter. The Reunion this year was in many respects similar to those we have attended in the past. The people began to assemble before eight o'clock and many lingered till the sun went down. The 16-acre grove of John Redkey was literally filled with people, horses and vehicles. The best of order prevailed and everybody seemed to be happy. Every town and community for miles in every direction

Uncle Joe Spargur, as in other years, opening address and with that generosity characteritaic of the man bade everybody welcome and extended the largest liberty to all. The Greenfield brass band was on hand and discoursed sweet soulstirring music. At 10:30 a. m. the public exercises began. "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name" was sung. Prayer was after which Rev. David Workman, of by the proper plant-food. Pricetown, was introduced and made a short appropriate address. This was his first visit to the Spargur Reunion. Their fame had gone abroad and he, like the Queen of Shebs, we guess, thought the half had not been told. Next came the speech of Rev. C. J. Wells, which was well timed and to the point. At halfpast eleven the congregation was dis-missed. Then followed one of the most interesting features of the day. Dinners were spread on every hand, and such dinners they were; no signs of a long pinching drouth were visible; the tables fairly groaned beneath their weight of good things; the thousands of hungry people were generously fed and many "baskets of fragments were taken up." Then followed a season of greeting, handshaking and cheer that continued without interruption until nearly 2 p. m., when the congregation was called to order and Ulric Sloane, the silver-tongued orator, of the Hillsboro bar, was walls of every home in this land. The next speaker introduced was the venerable Doctor Hughey, of Bainbridge, who might be justly termed the "old man eloquent." He chose for his theme my of science and the Biblea theme that ought to be discussed and ed home upon the attention of the people in this skeptical age, and we know of no one more competent than

Byron Milikan, of Washington City, who two years since was adopted into the Spargur family by marrying Miss Mary Sincisir, granddaughter of Phillip Spargur, deceased, was next introduced and entertained the audience with an amusing speech and concluded by read-ing the following original poem he had written for the constant

The object hereof is to call the attention of the hard-working farmer to the nature of the soil he is tilling and its improvement. Why are your products year by year decreasing in quantity and quality? What necessary ingredient is lacking in the soil to produce large and healthy plants, and full, round grains of corn and wheat? Examine your soil; therefore have it analyzed; see if it lacks nitre, ammonia, potash or phosphoric acid. In what way can these necessary but exhausted qualities of the soil best be restored? If you wish to put the land in corn, tobacco, oats, wheat, rye, barley, grass or clover, see what that particular plant requires in its growth and that its requirements are supported phate and ammonia. Rye and barley require nearly the Soils that have long been worked are worn out-are destitute of the necessary qualities in sufficient quantity to main-tain a vigorous growth of plant life. These qualities may be restored to the ground by the use of stable manure, as, if well rotted, it contains most of the proper acids in due proportions. But the supply is generally too limited to cover the required area. Resort must then be had to the commercial fertilizers, and they should be carefully scrutinized to see that they have the needful properties. Many of them are made from the phosphate rock of South Car introduced and made a very happy and sensible speech. In most fer-tilizers the weight is given to it by the phosphate rock, or by moisture held by insoluble and unavailable matter. These are high-priced at any price, even if bought on long time. Fertilizers should be perfectly dry and in condition to increase their own weight by moisture from the air, and should be like ashes their own weight by moisture -falling to pieces at the touch; they will then work easily in the drill and do it no injury. POLITICAL POINTERS.

Corn requires phosphoric acid and am

No rain, no corn; no corn, no whisky; no whisky, no Democrats. The prospect of Republican surcess this fall is encouraging .- Mansfield News.

About the nearest "General" Powell will get to the election of Governor will be his "Great Expectations." There is a Lyon in his path .- Commercial Gasette.

There is nothing that makes a man so tired as to hear an Ohio Democratic newspaper bloviate about carrying the State with Powell or any other living or dead Democrat .- Inter Ocean.

The Mugwumps assert that the Democratic party in Maryland needs "disinfecting." Nobody doubts it. But why not bury the nasty thing at once and be done with it ?- New York Tribune. Because Powell was defeated for Attorney-General ten years ago some people still call him "General." On the same principal St. John is "President" and Dr. Leonard "Governor." Great are onorary titles !- Clermont Courier. The Ohio Democrats are apparently in that commonwealth this year shall go up to 40,000 or 50,000 at least. They have engaged Messrs. Hurd, Carlisle and Mor-

Francis Murphy says: "If I had to take my chances of doing good in a political way for the temperance cause, would join the Republican party.' And Francis Murphy is the most successful temperance worker since John B. Gough,-Hartford Post.

Representative Foran, of Ohio, admits that the Democrats have a poor chance of carrying the State this fall. He would doubtless have been still more outspoken if he weren't a Democrat himself and averse to saying anything to interfere with the collection of campaign funds.— Philadelphia Press.

We want Ohio to be honored with Governor that returns to the "Confederate States" no rebel flags, with a Lieutenant in reserve that would rot in Libby prison before he would make shoes for rebels. Foraker and Lyon are such a team. Patriots will delight to vote for such a team .- Eaton Register.

"Protection is Republicanism-noth ing more, nothing less," shouts the Courier-Journal. Your head is screwed on exactly level, O guardian of the Stareved Goddess. Protection is Republienism, and that is why so many Kentuckians are going over to Republican ism for protection. - Times-Star.

We take it all back-Powell, the Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio, is known. He is known as the fellow who insulted the soldiers and sailors by hanging out an imitation "bloody shirt" at Democratic headquarters in Columbus, man the Democracy rally around .-

In Ohio the chances for Republican uccess were never better. The Democratic nominee for Governor announces that the tariff will be a clean-cut issue of the campaign, and the Hon. Frank Hurd has put on his war paint to enter into the fight, and his two previous defeats on the free trade issue will be repeated to the entire satisfaction of the Republican State ticket with the gallant Foraker

Those third party temperance people who have the poor taste to be forever abusing Francis Murphy should stop and reflect what it is for which they are conlemning him. He is loyal to one political party and is saving thousands of homes from the curse of strong drink. They are loyal to another party, andwell, we will let them say whether they are saving thousands of homes from the curse of strong drink .- Akron Beacon,

Now that the Ohio Democrats have een fairly committed by the platform to the free trade theory, as proclaimed by the declaration in favor of a tariff for revenue only and so in open hostility to the Republican doctrine of protection to American industries, it would be the right thing for the Democrats to develop their theory to the fullest extent in the canvass. But they won't do it. They will shirk the issue on all occasions when it is possible to do so .- Dayton

The reduction of the Democratic plurality from 44,000 given to Governor Knott four years ago and 34,000 given to President Cleveland three years ago, to 16,000 in 1887 and a beggarly majority over all of only 3,440 on the fullest vote ever cast, prove that there is a rapid revolution in political sentiment in Kenucky, and it obviously means that there shall be less whisky ring and free trade in the political provender of the future, or Kentucky will turn up squarely Re-

"General" Tom Powell, owing to friendliness with Grover Cleveboodle. He will call on Democrate in a few days with a placard on his shirt front bearing this inscription:

mendable in every way. It shows that they feel that if they must be buried at all they might just as well dig a deep, roomy grave while they are about it.—
Philadelphia Press.

The Ohio Democratic leaders are agreed ipon one thing-agreed that Powell and the entire ticket has no show. Such being the fact, they have resolved to make a still hunt for the Legislature. Wherever such work can be done to advantage the State ticket, or any one, two or more names upon it will be scratched if thereby some carcless Republican can be induced to vote for a Democratic candidate for the Senate or House of Representatives. That game is to be played for all it is worth in the close counties and districts. It will not win, however, - Ohio State Journal.

There are two young men in the Republican party who would eminently fill the first and second offices in the republic—Lincoln, of Illinois, and Bradley, of Kentucky. The name and services of the son of Lincoln, combined with the skill, daring, aggressive nature and nativity of Bradley would bring into determined that the Republican majority | the Republican column of States, the Virginias, the Carolinas, Florida, Louisiana and probably Kentucky. At least the Democratic fears would place Kenrison to stump the State.—Globe-Demo-tucky and the biggest half of the South in the list of doubtful States; and, instead of drawing reinforcements from the South, the Democracy would have to send assistance to its heretofore Gibraltar .- Cincinnati Telegram.

The third part of Rebecca Harding Davis' series of papers called "Here and There in the South," in the September Harper's, leads her party of travelers along the Gulf from Mobile, stopping at Biloxi, the health resort, at the Beauvoir plantations to call on Jefferson Davis, and at the picturesque little villages which line the coast. In New Orlean the visitors wander among the fascinating beauties and the quaint incongruities of the Crescent City. W. Hamilton Gib-son's charming illustrations make the article unusually attractive.

In Harper's Magazine for September the second and concluding part of How-ard Pyle's narrative of the freebooting adventurers who ruled the Spanish Main in the last century is devoted to the marooners, of whom Captain Avary, Cap-tain Kidd, Captain "Blackbeard" and Captain Low were conspicuous examples. The authentic history of these pirates, whose very names made merchantmen tremble in their shoes, is sketched with graphic interest, and Mr. Pyle illustrates the romantic scenes of that evil epoch with four drawings.
